Generosity provides family 'dream trip'

BY BETSY GAGNET
The generosity of friends, neighbors and even strangers her husband, mother and two youngest daughters went on an all-expense paid trip to Disneyworld.

The trip came about after Clement was diagnosed with a tumor in her lower back and began radiation treatment.

During the ordeal Lowry stayed in close contact with the family.

On one of Lowry's many visits after the diagnosis was made, Lowry asked Clement if there was something she wanted to do.

"I said kind of off the cuff I wanted to go to Disneyworld," Clement said. "First she (Lowry) said, 'I'll take care of it.'"

Ward 3 runoff Tuesday

BY BETSY GAGNET
Voters in Ward 3 of Bay St. Louis go back to the polls Tuesday to decide the outcome of the runoff between Charles Edward Johnson and Connie Payne Lampley.

The two city council candidates beat out incumbent Tom Farve and challenger Willie Acker for spots in Tuesday's runoff.

Both candidates said they are campaigning hard, hitting the streets and knocking on doors in an effort to get the vote out.

When asked about turnout predictions Johnson said, "It's usually the person who the people come out for. If they like you, they are going to come out (to vote)."

Lampley said a lot of people did not vote in the primary and she hopes those people will get to the polls Tuesday.

"I really want to win the election, I've worked hard and ran a great campaign," Lampley said. "But, it's important that people get out and vote, whatever their choice. People have gone through a lot to vote and everyone should exercise that right."

Johnson reported a lot of positive feedback from voters he has talked to.

"People are very nice to me. Everywhere people are saying they are voting for me or praying for me," Johnson said.

Lampley also reported positive feedback. She said she has covered nearly every door in Ward 3 for the second time and

Supers to stop illegal pole practice

BY ED LEPOMA

District 1 Supervisor Jeep Ladner wants to crack down on beachfront property owners intruding on the county's right-of-way.

At Tuesday's recess meeting, Ladner told fellow supervisors he's getting a lot of calls from people complaining that some residents are putting up mailboxes, fences or posts on land in front of their homes that is actually county property.

Ladner wants the practice to stop, and he found a resolution passed by supervisors in 1968 that initially ordered property cleared for construction of Beach Boulevard from Clermont Harbor to just past St. Charles Street in Bay St. Louis.

Supervisors want county engineer Larry Seal to check things out, then they are expected to officially notify property owners that are in violation through a legal advertisement to be placed in the Echo.

The advertisement will most likely give property owners a certain time in which to clear the area.

Ladner said the posts and other intrusions are dangerous.

Trappers to resolve 'swine' problem at Port

BY ED LEPOMA

Wild hogs are running rampant at Hancock County's busy industrial park, but plans are underway that might give humans the upper hand.

Supervisors Tuesday concurred in a resolution passed the day before by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission which would allow up to 10 trappers to come on port grounds and snare the swines.

But, before that could happen, the Port Commission had to get permission from state Wildlife and Fisheries officials to circumvent the laws currently on the books.

Robert Genin, the commission's attorney, wrote the department's Capt. Hank Boudreaux last March to complain,

"There is a large population of wild hogs within Port Bienville which have become a serious problem endangering the lives of people employed at the park and causing damage to personal property."

"We have had several reports of wild hogs chasing individuals within the boundaries of Port Bienville," Genin wrote.

The problem has become even more apparent now that a growing work force is on site helping to construct the giant Wellman plastics plant on a 400-acre tract.

Under present regulations, a landowner can trap hogs and keep the meat for personal use, but the traps can't be baited.

Genin complained, "No hogs will be caught in traps without bait, and the problem will continue."

The laws allow bait to be used if a permit is obtained, but directs that the meat be given to charity.

"No one will be willing to trap the hogs... if they are unable to keep them," Genin told Boudreaux.

The Commission was given permission to allow hunters to bait the traps and keep the pork.

However, Hal Walters, the port's executive director, told supervisors, trappers won't be allowed to go "hog wild."

The Commission plans to advertise for trappers, and will strictly regulate those selected.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LaDonne, SVD

That clarinet-trumpet-trombone warm-up sound might have led early arriving worshippers to believe they were in the House of Blues or some other mecca of blues, jazz or rhythm and blues. Yet they were in St. Augustine Catholic Church.

What a strange, unaccustomed sound as Sunday Mass was about to crank up. Were we ready to boogie, to worship, or just do a jazzed-up, jam-session combination of both?

Whatever, more than just curious, the Sunday congregation looked excited, expectant and worshipful all at once. There was a rare electric charge in the air which King David would have relished while dancing before the Ark of the Covenant.

Sidney Joseph Bechet had been baptized within these walls a century ago. Now, 28 years after his death, New Orleans was giving him the recognition and acclaim which was his due but never his experience to enjoy and treasure.

What better stage on which to pay tribute to that king of clarinet and soprano straight sax than one of the very venues where the blues, jazz and black gospel had their roots?

Yes, it was there in 184-year-old St. Augustine Church that slaves were among the very first tenants, occupying exclusively the entire entire slaves. Most of the occupants of the two middle aisles were free blacks, with a few others.

Especially painful to the slaves was their relationship to the free blacks in the middle, some of whom were their masters or mistresses. How could Christians own a fellow human as chattel in light of what Jesus told us?

"I no longer call you slaves, because a slave does not know what his master is doing. I have called you friends, because I have told you everything I have heard from my Father" (Jn. 16: 15).

The hapless, deflated, humiliated slaves saw gross contradictions in the behavior of their owners vis-a-vis the power, freedom and love in the words of Jesus. The owners spoke the words of Jesus, but did the opposite in their actions.

Out of the sheer pain, sadness, rejection and depression of their condition, the slaves began to pour their souls out while they toiled in the cotton and sugar cane fields. All their expressions came straight out of the Bible.

During Mass, Latin-Greek chants assailed their ears: Kyrie eleison; sanctus, sanctus, sanctus; Agnus Dei. However, their minds drifted back to the cotton and sugar cane fields where they rendered the authentic translations of the Bible.

Jazz awesome roots

"There is a balm in Gilead to make the wounded whole." "Beat away to Jesus." "Soon will be done with the troubles of the world. . . I'm givin' to live with God." "See the baby in a manger . . . so they crucified him, but he rose on Easter."

From the incredibly rich range of sorrow, hurt, rejection, humiliation, faith, hope, peace and jubilation sprang all the emotions bottled in the blues, jazz and gospel music.

We could feel that whole range of melancholy and joy as the jazz musicians plugged into our gospel Mass, especially during the tumultuous playing and singing of the Great Amen.

Sidney Bechet, Bitchino Armstrong and all the icons of jazz owed a deep debt of gratitude to the slaves whose poignant Bible-based music laid the awesome roots of jazz. Equally indebted are all who render or enjoy gospel, jazz and blues.

EVERYDAY RECIPES

... Love, Patsy
(Patsy Powell)

Good morning, y'all. Well, basically I am a very colorful person. I speak with the colors of the Mardi Gras as I am originally from New Orleans. We live and breathe the colors. We love everybody and don't you know, before it's over, I really think you'll love me too. So, here's to a good relationship between us and read on.

Are you ready to smell the food cooking as you read and even taste it when you have finished — well, have I got a recipe for you. Get those taste buds ready for this and be prepared for a feeding frenzy when you have cooked this.

CHICKEN-TAMALE CASEROLE OLE'

- 2 cans tamales
- 4 boiled and cut into pieces chicken breasts
- 2 large cans hot chili with beans
- 1 eight-cup container of grated Cheddar cheese
- 2 large onions, chopped small
- 1 large bag corn chips, crushed
- 1 large can enchilada sauce
- 1 can chili without beans
- 2 cans green chilis, chopped
- Sliced jalapenos to taste (I use a lot)

If available, sliced banana peppers

Here comes the messy part. Take the tamales off the tamale and cut into bite-size pieces (save the juices to pour on top). Sprinkle a large baking dish with vegetable spray to keep from sticking. Put a layer of tamales on the bottom followed by a layer of onions, peppers, green chilis, cheese and corn chips.

Top this with a can of chili with beans. If it doesn't look juicy enough to you add some of the chili without beans.

Now, do another layer with the same ingredients, except start with the cut up chicken breasts. Poke a few holes in the top with your finger or a knife so when you pour the enchilada sauce over and round the sides it will get into it. Make sure you have a lot of cheese on the top.

Cover with foil and bake about 1 hour and then uncover and bake until brown on top. Bake at 375 degrees or less if your oven takes less. You don't want to burn this. It is delicious.

Serve with a salad and crackers.

See you next time . . . Love Patsy

Stomach Pain?

Take this test. If you experience any of the following symptoms, you may have a peptic ulcer.

- A burning, gnawing stomach pain that occasionally spreads to your chest.
- Burning stomach pain that is usually relieved by food or antacids.
- Stomach pain that occurs within 30 minutes to two hours after you eat.
- Recurrent stomach pains that are somewhat similar to hunger pangs.
- Gastric pains felt in your back, between your shoulder blades.

According to the American Medical Association Family Medical Guide, one out of five men and one out of ten women experience a peptic ulcer at some point in their lives. Anyone who has experienced an ulcer can tell you they can bring discomfort, pain and inconvenience. And a bleeding ulcer can quickly become life threatening. Therefore, it is important to be aware of the signs, symptoms and complications of ulcers.

On Thursday, May 29, from 7 to 8:30 p.m., Dr. Timothy Trainor, a gastroenterologist, will conduct a seminar on the causes, treatment and prevention of peptic ulcer disease. The presentation will conclude with a question/answer session. Please join us at NorthShore Regional Medical Center, Main Dining Room, 100 Medical Center Drive.

The seminar is free, but seating is limited. Call 646-5014 to enroll.

VA expands benefits for Gulf War veterans

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has published a new regulation extending through the year 2001 the period in which undiagnosed illnesses in Gulf War veterans may appear and be eligible for disability compensation.

Director of the Jackson VA Regional Office Mary Leyland said, "Some Gulf War veterans' claims have been denied because their disabilities due to undiagnosed symptoms did not appear until after a two-year presumptive period."

"This rule broadens VA's ability to give disabled Gulf War veterans the benefit of the doubt for a more realistic period of the time as scientific research moves closer to answers about the causes of their health problems."

The regulation, published as an interim rule in the April 23 Federal Register with a request for public comments, is effective immediately. VA may amend the rule based on input received during the public comment period, which ends June 30.

Of 85,402 Gulf War veteran compensation claims completed by VA 66,277 have been service-connected and 28,285 veterans are receiving disability compensation, 803 for undiagnosed illnesses.

Under the extended time frame, VA anticipates granting compensation to a significantly higher number of veterans disabled due to undiagnosed illnesses that meet the new manifestation period.

Secretary of Veterans Affairs Jesse Brown has instructed the Veterans Benefits Administration to review all compensation claims of Gulf War veterans that were previously denied because of the two-year presumptive period and to notify these veterans of the results of the reconsideration.

"As our review progresses, we will seek to keep veterans informed through our newsletter, which is sent to more than a quarter-million Gulf War veterans who either have filed disability claims, utilized the VA medical-care system, or participated in VA's Persian Gulf Registry Program or the Department of Defense's Comprehensive Clinical Evaluation Program."

General health information unrelated to the compensation process is available to concerned Gulf War veterans at 1-800-749-8387. A special protocol medical examination is available to Gulf War veterans through their local VA medical center, and a Gulf War veteran whose health has changed since an initial examination is encouraged to receive a follow-up examination under the Persian Gulf Registry program.

Information is also available to Gulf War veterans through the Internet at <http://www.va.gov/gulf.htm>.

Service members who remain on active duty today but who previously served in the Gulf War theater may obtain the protocol health examination through military treatment facilities. Information is available at 1-800-796-9699.

Mary Leyland urged veterans who believe they may now qualify for compensation but who have not previously submitted a claim, and veterans wishing to reopen a previous claim to call VA at 1-800-827-1000 for information.

Hats off to several industrial and business who were recognized Friday at the 1988 Hancock County Salute to Business and Industry.

The event, sponsored by the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission in cooperation with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, was a big success.

The Our Lady of the Gulf Cathedral Center was an ideal setting.

Jimmie Heidel, executive director of the Mississippi Department of Economic & Community Development, reported that our state is becoming well known nationally by business and industry.

The state is moving up fast becoming a leader in industrial growth, Heidel indicated.

Heidel mentioned that in 1986 in Hancock County there were seven industry expansions in Hancock County while there have already been two this year.

It was also good to hear both Fred May, general manager of Gulf Coast Fabrication, and Walter Martin, president and owner of MANUFAB East say good things about our area work force.

Gulf Coast Fabrication was honored and received the Award of Excellence while MANUFAB East received honors as the Industry of the Year.

Both May and Martin indicated they were very proud of their employees and the high quality of work they produce.

Gulf Coast Fabrication is located at Port Bienvenue Industrial Park and has over 300 employees, while MANUFAB East is also at the industrial park and has 50 employees.

John McDonald Realty, with Robert Kane manager, was named the Bay St. Louis Business of the Year. Waveland's Business of the Year went to restaurant owner Armand Jonte, owner of Armand's.

North Hancock Business of the Year honors went to Kenny Allison owner of D & K Quick Stops.

Park Ten Lanes and owner James C. English was honored as Diamondhead's Business of the Year.

The Hancock County Business of the Year honors went to the North Hancock County Business and Professional Association.

All of the industries, businesses and their owners, and especially all of their employees, should be very proud of their honors.

Congratulations are in order for each and every one of you for a job well done.

Let us not forget everyone involved with the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission, as they play a very important role in our industrial growth and expansion.

As Jimmie Heidel said, working together is the key to the state's growth, and this applies on a local basis, too.

By the way, congratulations to Billie Breland on his special award from the City of Waveland for his so many years of contributions to the community at Merchants Bank.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Officers place life on line, deputies not 'spoiled brats'

Dear Editor:

I wish to express my concerns over Mr. Beal's recent letter to the editor concerning the "spoiled brats" with the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

I have always considered myself as a public servant and tried to maintain peace during difficult situations. For 19 years I have worked with the Sheriff's Department and dealt with situations as I felt that I would like to be treated if I were in the same situation.

I try to answer each complaint in an adult method of reasoning. Mr. Beal's comment in his letter insulted me personally.

I feel that Hancock County is in dire need of a juvenile facility. Where this facility is to be built should be discussed in an adult manner by all concerned. Mr. Beal's opinion reflected on the Sheriff's Department and gave the impression that we were "spoiled children."

Ms. Beal should have taken her complaints to the Board of Supervisors meeting and voiced her opinion in an appropriate manner and tried to find alternatives to this much needed facility.

I understand her family home was in jeopardy, but she should have tried to seek a solution in an adult manner and not by name calling.

My husband is a retired deputy sheriff with the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and was injured answering a complaint on an insane person five years ago, and my son and I are still going through the trauma of his possible death from injuries related to this stabbing.

I hate for my son to get the opinion that the officers of this community think of his mom and dad as "spoiled brats" because we work for the Sheriff's Department.

Normal citizens put the law enforcement out of their minds until they have a problem, then this officer or situation of the jail facility and juvenile facility is then a concern.

My parents have always instilled in me that you raise your child the best that you can, then their choices have to be their own. You pray that they make the correct choice, but just once they may not.

I feel a public apology from Ms. Beal would be appropriate to my fellow co-workers and me, as I feel we are not spoiled brats but public servants and hopefully we can assist every concern of all citizens throughout Hancock County.

Just asking for the truth

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my disappointment with Richard Meek's story in the Thursday, May 15 newspaper on Bay School Board meeting.

It was reported that I was paid through grants for my time spent working with a character education program at Bay High.

I feel very strongly about the importance and the need for parental involvement.

I sought to answer one of the needs at Bay High by introducing a charter program for the 8th grade science classes.

Waveland resident grateful for Bay Patrolman's kindness

Dear Editor:

It is with considerable pleasure and satisfaction that I write concerning what must be called a positive act of community service.

On Dec. 18, 1988, I took a 5:30 a.m. Amtrak out of New Orleans which left late, arriving late, and so far as I can recall did not notify anyone of its situation.

The station was closed, and the phone was ripped from the wall. It was a very cold night and I was only recently discharged from the hospital in New Orleans.

A restaurant was open across the street, and the waitress allowed me to make a phone call. I was informed a cab would take a long time, and the waitress suggested I call the police.

I have located a card from Cpl. Travis T. Foreman of the Bay St. Louis Police Department and believe that he answered my call. Once he understood my situation, he offered to drive me to my home, which he did. Of course, I was very grateful for his kindness, and no credit to Amtrak, I did make it home safely.

My compliments to Mayor Favre, Chief Frank McNeil and Officer Foreman. In my opinion, the label of "conservative" with God-like fervor have lately been calling Sen. Trent Lott a traitor because he voted for the Chemical Weapons Treaty. Just one mistake and you are off the team, apparently is the verdict of these self-avowed "conservatives." Absolutism is their doctrine. Trent has sinned against their Ten Commandments.

Shall Trent now be banished from the Pantheon of conservative saints? Too bad that Trent has fallen from grace. We already knew that Thad Cochran had become a heretic. But now Trent? Heaven forbid!

To begin with, these breast-beating "conservatives" are really not genuine conservatives. They are way out on the far end of the spectrum where mostly looney tunes hang out.

What they can't understand is that Trent Lott, no matter his arch-conservative rhetoric in the past, isn't going to be caught out there with the extremists of the right.

Once he ran with the Jesse Helms crowd in the Senate. But Trent recognizes the Helms bunch is so much out of touch with reality that he could not maintain any credibility as Majority Leader of the Senate if he did not part company with them on such issues of national interest as the weapons treaty.

Lott as Majority Leader has proven to the surprise of many (this writer included) that he no longer is just a parochial Mississippi-style politician who panders to his constituency in the Magnolia State. Now he is one of the leaders of the Free World and his concerns go far beyond his state's boundary.

He is obviously perceptive enough to see that the United States, as the last Superpower, cannot live up to its responsibility as the world's leader by declining to ratify a treaty banning chemical weapons. Perhaps the vocal "conservatives" of the 1990s forget that the treaty was first proposed by Ronald Reagan, the household deity of conservatism, and that it was signed by his successor, George Bush.

No doubt what bugs a lot of die-hard who opposed the treaty is that Bill Clinton will get credit for finally getting the treaty ratified and scoring a major foreign policy victory.

The fact that Clinton agreed to 28 amendments which satisfied Lott and his supporters doesn't seem to matter to those still walling about the treaty's ratification.

Of course, President Clinton (and a number of members of the Senate) have a strong sense of history and know that the League of Nations covenant was never ratified after World War I and was a tragic mistake. It failed at least in part because Woodrow Wilson did not work with Congress and make some compromises.

This sound and fury heard from the far righters about the Chemical Weapons Treaty is a reprise of the flak poor Jimmy Carter took over pushing the Panama Canal Treaty 20 years ago. None of the dire consequences which foes of the Panama Canal agreement said would happen did in fact happen.

Lott, of course, was joined by a number of his fellow Republicans whose credentials as solid conservatives are long established. As one of them, Sen. Pete Domenici of New Mexico, said, in backing the treaty, that while it may not be perfect "we will be far better off adopting it than if we do not adopt it."

This country still has some isolationists who make a lot of noise any time the U.S. is about to enter into a treaty and demonstrate that it is a full partner in the family of nations.

Thank goodness Trent Lott has shown he is no isolationist.

Sincerely,

Making sure we know more

Q How can you sleep and exercise at the same time?
A According to sleep researchers at The University of Mississippi Medical Center, REM sleep may be exercise for your brain, and dreams may be the stimulus the brain needs for continued development. Their research shows that newborns spend 50 percent of their time in REM sleep compared to 25 percent for young adults, and as much as 90 percent for infants born prematurely. REM sleep deprivation has serious consequences to mental health. Just another way Mississippi researchers are making sure we know more.

Williams leads Hawks in spring win

BY RICHARD MEEK
Move over Deion, there's a new kid on your turf.

Darryel Williams of Hancock High School followed in the footsteps of baseball and football standout Deion Sanders by starring in two sports several hundred miles apart on Friday. Williams spent his afternoon finishing fourth in the 100-meter state race, and his evening sparking a lethargic Hawk football team.

Williams, playing in only the second half, scored on his first run from scrimmage and finished with 95 yards on six carries to lead Hancock to a 38-26 victory over Lumberton in a spring football game at Hawk Stadium.

Bay High, St. Stanislaus and St. John participated in a round-robin scrimmage on Saturday night at Bay High.

Williams posted a time of 10.9 seconds in Jackson, well below his personal record of 10.5 two weeks ago in the South State meet but good enough for a fourth place finish.

He returned to Hancock moments before the first half ended, when the Hawks were locked in a 6-6 struggle and the offense was sputtering.

"I was tired," Williams said. "But I knew I had to show the team some leadership. They were counting on me to get back."

"I didn't know I would get back that early."

On the second play of the third quarter, Williams sliced off the right side of the line and scampered 44 yards to give the Hawks the lead. Williams ran for 28 yards on his second carry, but it was his presence that appeared to spark the Hawk offense.

Hancock was held to 30 first half yards, 16 on a touchdown pass from Josh Whitfield to Mark Deaton on the game's second play.

Kevin Deaton, who had set up the Hawks at the Lumberton 11 when he recovered the first of five Trevor McLemore fumbles and returned it 17 yards.

From that point, however, Hancock's offense was grounded. The Hawks did not pick up another first down until midway through the second quarter and failed to cross midfield.

With Williams presence, however, the Hawks took command in the third quarter, rolling up 227 rushing yards in the quarter. Hancock finished with 288 total yards. The Hawks scored on their first five possession of the second half, and ran out the clock on their sixth.

John Woods, held to four yards on four carries in the first half, finished with 51 yards on nine carries.

"It was not all (Williams)," Hawk coach Rocky Gaudin said. "The thing we worked on this spring was blocking. We are not as big as we were last year."

"At half, I told the kids I was most disappointed in our blocking. We did not do a good job. We would have nothing had we had (Williams) in there or not."

Lumberton had dominated the first half, grinding out 149 yards and running 22 plays in Hawk territory, but the Panthers self-destructed with three turnovers. Lumberton had tied the score with 3:02 left in the first half on McLemore's nine-yard run that capped a 50-yard, five-play drive.

In the third quarter, McLemore answered Williams' touchdown run with a 72-yard kickoff return for a score on a reverse. But a failed PAT left the Hawks ahead at 13-12 at the 11:20 mark of the third quarter.

Hancock responded with a 61-yard, nine-play drive culminated by Woods seven-yard run that gave Hancock a 20-12 lead.

Lumberton drove deep into Hawk territory on the Panthers' ensuing possession but Lee Shirah stepped in front of a Jason Jones pass and returned it 48 yards to the Lumberton 37. Seven plays later, Whitfield scored from one-yard out to give Hancock a 26-12 lead.

McLemore fumbled the ensuing kickoff and a Hawk recovery set up Hancock at the Lumberton 35.

Five plays later, Woods had his second score on an 11-yard run and the Hawks were cruising with a 32-12 lead.

Whitfield, in his Hancock debut as a starter, completed three of 10 attempts for 46 yards.

"We are more balanced offensively this year," Gaudin said. "We will be able to throw the ball better."

"I don't put a lot of stock in spring games," he added. "In a spring game, we want to find out if our team can win. You never know."

"And we want to find out what kids can play. We look at kids having to step up and play."

Williams left the field tired, but anxiously anticipating the fall. He said he has set a personal goal of 1,500 yards rushing, but more important, wants to end the Hawks playoff drought.

"I feel good about this team," Williams said. "Playoffs, here we come."

Hancock County Business of the Year North Hancock County Business & Professional Assoc.

The North Hancock County Business and Professional Association was founded in January 1992 with a charter membership of 14 people, and has grown steadily.

The organization's goal is to promote economic growth and encourage community involvement in a positive manner in the northern part of Hancock County.

A few of the many events promoted by the North Hancock County Business and Professional Association includes; recognition of Student of the Month at Hancock High, Christmas Tree Lighting and provides toys for deserving children and also Christmas baskets to those in need, and a Picnic Day for Hancock High seniors.

A highlight for the organization in 1997 was Superbowl XXXI. The week, or so surrounding the Super Bowl with Kiln native Green Bay Packer star quarterback Brett Favre receiving the NFL's MVP two years in a row, brought people to the area by the bus loads from across America along with media by the truck loads.

The festivities and activities that the businesses in the area planned and coordinated, not only enhanced the coverage, but capitalized on the opportunity that was presented.

The people coming through the Kiln area were shown just what true "Southern Hospitality" is all about.

The merchants, citizens, school officials and the Association all worked together to make sure that everyone enjoyed themselves in a fun, safe and friendly environment, as they served as goodwill ambassadors for Hancock County.

MANUFAB East

MANUFAB East is a branch of MANUFAB, Inc. in Kenner, La., a 23-year-old Custom Metal Fabricating Company.

The MANUFAB East operation was started in 1990 in rental facilities in Pass Christian. A large job justified moving to a larger facility.

Officials searched the Gulf Coast for a permanent plant location and decided on the Port Bienville location as a permanent home. MANUFAB's East plant was constructed in late 1993 and started operations in January 1994 with 30 employees.

The MANUFAB East plant primarily fabricates large metal structures used in U.S. Corps of Engineers water control structures throughout the country, as well as other complicated metal structures for building construction, marine construction projects and other uses.

The facility is certified by the American Institute of Steel Construction to fabricate complex steel structures.

The plant now employs 50 welders, fitters, burners, tackers, and helpers on two shifts, and the 40,000 sq. ft. building includes a full complement of equipment, bridge cranes, sandblasting and painting equipment making the facility capable of working on a wide variety of metals.

MANUFAB's backlog of work extends into 1998, and an expansion of the plant building is planned for late 1997.

Waveland Business of the Year

Armand's

Armand Jonte was born in New Orleans and grew up there and on the Coast. He attended local schools finishing with Tulane University.

He began in the restaurant business the way many accomplished chefs begin -- by washing dishes. Later he answered a blind ad in the newspaper for a person "to learn Creole Cooking." He hit an apprentice jackpot, as it was Commanders Palace, and worked there in the late seventies and early eighties.

After Commanders, he opened the restaurant and dining room at the Columns hotel. His year and a half there brought his talents to the attention of locals, and he became chef at Gautreaux's Restaurant. Six and a half years later, Armand's reputation had blossomed, and good reviews of his brand of Creole cookery started coming in from both local and national press.

In 1990, Armand moved to Waveland with his wife Scotty and children. He worked at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club before opening Armand's in 1992.

"I've always wanted to live in Waveland. We've been coming here on weekends and holidays since 1978. Being here with my family and having the restaurant has really been a dream come true," Jonte said.

A sports lounge and conference room is available to the public. Near future plans at Park Ten call for expanding the facility to 32 lanes, which would make it the largest center in Mississippi. A Miniature Golf Course is also in future plans.

The facility was built and designed for family entertainment focusing on youth programs such as Southern Scratch Jr. Bowling Association (SSJBA).

Park Ten sponsors bowling tournaments which draw people from all over the country.

English is also president and owner of Nautilus Plus Inc., and Diamondhead TV Cable, Inc. and has been a resident of Mississippi since 1967. He has memberships in the Chamber of Commerce and Diamondhead Business and Professional Association.

How to Finance

CONSUMER UPDATE

By Dan Eubank, MBA, CFP
Consumer Budget Management Specialist

When you are planning to sell your home, you need to consider the tax implications of the sale. The most common method of financing the sale is to use the proceeds to pay off your mortgage. This method is often referred to as a "cash-out refinance." It allows you to take cash out of your home's equity and use it for whatever you want. This can be a good way to get a large sum of money without having to pay cash out of your pocket. However, it does increase your debt, so you need to be careful.

Another method of financing the sale is to use a reverse mortgage. This is a loan that allows you to borrow money from a lender using your home as collateral. The loan is repaid when you die or move out of the home. This can be a good way to get cash without having to pay cash out of your pocket. However, it does increase your debt, so you need to be careful.

There are many other ways to finance the sale of your home. You should consult with a financial advisor to determine the best way to finance the sale for your situation. They can help you understand the pros and cons of each method and help you make the best decision for you.

She can give $10,000 to each child. The amount of the gift is determined by the value of the property. If the property is worth $100,000, she can give $10,000 to each child. If the property is worth $200,000, she can give $20,000 to each child. The amount of the gift is determined by the value of the property.

Social Security: Where do we go from here?

(Editor's note: Second of a two-part series on Social Security)
In part one of this series, we discussed that, while healthy today, Social Security faces possible bankruptcy in 2030. What steps should our lawmakers take to ensure a secure retirement for our children and grandchildren?

That's a question the presidential advisory council on Social Security attempted to answer when it recently issued three proposals designed to improve the long-term health of Social Security. While one proposal would essentially maintain the current benefit structure, two new ideas were set forth in the recommendations: allow the government to invest part of the fund's surplus dollars in the stock market, or "privatize" the system by allowing workers to invest part of their payroll taxes into individual accounts and choose their own investments.

Currently, the fund's surplus dollars are invested in U.S. Treasury bonds. This is a safe investment, but stocks have historically provided better returns. Over the years the stock market has averaged a 10 percent return vs. 5 percent on government bonds. Experts believe that the increased return on the fund's assets would help postpone the projected date of Social Security bankruptcy beyond 2030.

It's an intriguing idea, however, there are those who question the prudence of handing the government power to make investment decisions. Investing Social Security funds in equities would allow government officials or their political appointees to control a huge portion of the investment capital in our stock market. In an era when other countries are fighting to remove government influence from their stock markets, is this the direction we want to go?

Privatizing Social Security would keep government entities out of the market, but this idea raises a lot of questions as well. Social Security is a pay-as-you-go system that takes money from workers and gives it to people who are already retired or disabled. The system does not set aside your tax dollars in an account with your Social Security number on it and then give those dollars back to you when you retire. If workers are able to invest their own payroll taxes into individual accounts earmarked for their retirement, the current tax revenue stream dries up. Where will the government get the funds to pay benefits to the 43 million who already are drawing Social Security checks? Who will foot the bill if people make poor investment choices and lose all or some of their personally invested money? And, what happens if the stock market collapses 10 to 15 years from now, wiping out the majority of savings just when the baby boomers are ready to enter retirement?

The answer to these questions should sound familiar: the money will come from workers in the form of increased taxes. Unfortunately, it's unlikely that more taxes alone would be enough. If the worker-to-retiree ratio drops to 2-to-1 in 2030 as expected, it would take almost all of one worker's remaining wages (after state and federal taxes) to support one retiree.

Another issue surrounding privatization involves a more fundamental question about the role the government should play in our lives. Should it be in the business of mandating that everyone save for his or her own retirement? Or should the federal government stick to its original mandate of providing a social safety net that will keep retirees and the disabled above the poverty level?

Other ideas need to be explored in conjunction with the advisory council's proposals. In order to cut down on the number of years the fund pays out benefits, the retirement age should be raised to 70 — sooner, not later. This is a logical first step. In 1983, Congress enacted legislation to raise the retirement age to 67, but the increase is gradual, beginning in the year 2000 and continuing until 2023. It's too little, too late.

Another solution experts are discussing is the possibility of reducing or eliminating the cost-of-living adjustments (COLAs) for Social Security. There were no COLAs from 1935 through 1972, and most corporate pensions do not even offer COLAs. The COLAs alone would have doubled a retiree's benefits from 1972 to 1996. Again, Social Security was never designed to support growing benefits over such long periods of retirement.

Finally, as a society, we need to take a second look at the stated purpose of Social Security. Is it a safety net to protect the neediest retirees and disabled from falling into poverty? Or is it a government-sponsored retirement plan available to all Americans, regardless of need? This is the basic question that needs to be answered before any reform takes place. Only when we have agreed on the mission of Social Security will we be able to move forward with changes that will ensure it fulfills that mission.

wry) started praying and then she got busy.

Reno Air donated airline tickets, Disneyworld donated the passes to the theme parks and donations were collected to pay for the hotel, food and everything else.

"The outpouring of generosity has been astounding," Clement said. "People have been wonderful."

It wasn't until the last minute that everything came together.

"The last deposit to cover the hotel bill was made after we left," said Clement. "She (Lory) said, 'Have faith and it will be there', and I did and she was right."

Despite the fact she was not able to enjoy all of the attractions at Disneyworld, Clement said she spent time with her mother while her daughters were off with her husband on the rides.

"My mother went along and she and I went shopping and took it easy," she explained. "When I was ready to rest, she was ready to rest too."

Clement said her favorite part was the luxurious hotel where she enjoyed the view of the pool and relaxed. For the kids, the best part was, of course, Tigger and Mickey.

"My six year-old is still lit up by it," Clement said.

Upon returning home, Clement was exhausted, which was compounded by beginning chemotherapy.

Prior to being diagnosed in November, Clement said she suffered with severe low back pain for months and had been to numerous doctors without finding any relief.

"I kept going back telling them it was getting worse and worse," Clement said. "I remember one night lying in the tub with the whirlpool on, trying to get warm water on my back and praying for one minute of being pain-free."

Finally in November, Clement went to a chiropractor who treated her for one week and told her something serious was going on.

She then went to Ochsner Hospital in Metairie, LA and was diagnosed within one day.

After her pain was under control, radiation was started to shrink the tumor, which responded. Since returning from her trip Clement has begun chemotherapy to slow down the progression to her lung and liver.

One thing she said she has learned from the ordeal is to listen to your own body.

Before being diagnosed Clement said she spent months in agonizing pain, which may have been avoided if her diagnosis had been made sooner.

"Don't let them convince you that you are exaggerating. Insist, yell, scream, change doctors," she said. "When it hurts, something is wrong. When it doesn't go away and it doesn't respond, do something else."

"What irritates me is anything you hear about cancer is early detection is the key," Clement said. "If you can't get doctors to listen to you for early detection, how are you supposed to early detect?"

For now, Clement said she is going to see how she responds to the chemotherapy and take it one day at a time, praying for that miracle she is expecting.

"I'm going to recover from the chemotherapy and see what comes next," she said. "I have a lot of unfinished business like a six-year-old and a life to live."

Wildlife Federation recruits volunteers

The Mississippi Wildlife Federation (MWF), the state's largest conservation organization, and the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) are recruiting volunteers to become citizen water quality monitors.

Through their Adopt-A-Stream program, a workshop will be held July 14-17 at Tishomingo State Park.

Participants will earn basic chemical and biological water quality tests they can conduct for a stream in their local community.

In addition, volunteers will learn how to organize debris clean-ups, contact legislators and survey watersheds to identify potential problem areas.

"We are training volunteers to help be our eyes and ears in the field," said Lonnie Bailey, MWF president. "The monitoring technology has changed so much that it is easy for citizens to get involved and collect good quality data."

The program is designed primarily to educate citizens about nonpoint source pollution problems and to show them what they can do as individuals to clean up degraded streams and rivers.

Scientists at DEQ will use the data collected by volunteers to help identify trends and changes in stream health over time.

The workshop includes classroom time for explanation of how pH, temperature, dissolved oxygen levels, turbidity, alkalinity and chlorides are interrelated and what each may indicate about the stream. Also, participants will learn how to collect and identify several types of aquatic insects which are effective indicators of stream health. Volunteers will visit a nearby stream to practice water sampling and testing techniques as well.

The program is open to all educators, coordinators, individuals, civic and conservation organizations, hunting and fishing clubs, businesses and others interested in caring for and conserving Mississippi's water resources. The workshop is supported by the Mississippi Department of Education for Continuing Education Units.

Cost of the three and one-half day workshop is $75 and includes lodging, meals, workshop materials and t-shirt.

For information or to register, contact Marla Huffstatter at the Mississippi Wildlife Federation at (601) 353-6922 or write MWF, P. O. Box 1814, Jackson, MS 39215-1814.

Dr. Hartwig honored with SES Meritorious Award

Dr. Eric O. Hartwig, associate director of the Naval Research Laboratory's (NRL's) Ocean and Atmospheric Science and Technology (OAST) Directorate was presented the Presidential Rank of Meritorious Executive in the Senior Executive Service (SES) in a ceremony held at the Pentagon.

The award recognizes the prolonged high-quality accomplishments of career members of the SES and is among the highest honors a public employee may receive.

The award nomination notes that as head of the largest U.S. research organization dedicated to understanding the maritime environment, Dr. Hartwig is instrumental in ensuring that research programs conducted by NRL and the Office of Naval Research (ONR) are meeting the needs of the Navy, Department of Defense and the nation.

NRL's OAST Directorate is the sole Navy organization chartered to perform research and development in the ocean, atmospheric and space sciences. Entities of the OAST located at NRL Stennis Space Center include the Oceanography Division, Marine Geosciences Division, Remote Sensing Applications Branch, and two branches of the Acoustics Division.

The nomination also notes that Dr. Hartwig is responsible for "reinvigorating" the Navy's oceanographic research vessel program, establishing new ONR programs in ocean optics, remote sensing and coastal oceanography, and for initiating NRL research in space-based remote sensing of the environment, mixed aerosols and high-frequency acoustics.

He also established ship and aircraft support funding at NRL to provide necessary field programs for observational data collection efforts.

Dr. Hartwig received his BS in biological sciences from the University of Texas, and his PhD from the Scripps Institute of Oceanography, San Diego, Calif. During his career, Dr. Hartwig has served as higher scientific officer of the Scottish Marine Biological Association (1974-75); associate research scientist at Johns Hopkins University (1975-78); president of Chem-Data (1978-82); senior scientist for microbiological, physical and chemical programs at Marine Ecological Consultants (1978-80); and as program manager, OTEC biological oceanographic studies at Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory (1980-82).

Dr. Eric Hartwig

Prior to joining NRL in 1992, Dr. Hartwig worked at ONR for 10 years. There, he served as program manager for oceanic biology and later as the director of ONR's Ocean Sciences Directorate.

The Naval Research Laboratory is the Department of the Navy's corporate laboratory. NRL conducts a broad program of scientific research, technology and advanced development. The Laboratory, with a total complement of nearly 4,000 personnel, is located in southwest Washington, DC, with other major sites at the Stennis Space Center and Monterey, Calif.

Dr. Schmager — bringing a bit of Germany to NAVOCEANO

The Scientific Technology Staff of the Naval Oceanographic Office (Stennis Space Center) announced Dr. Gerhard Schmager, a visiting scientist, is assisting their department.

Dr. Schmager is evaluating oceanographic data bases in the Baltic and North Sea regions and recommending improvements. Dr. Schmager will be with the Naval Oceanographic Office until October of this year.

Dr. Schmager brings both academic and employment expertise to his new endeavor. He holds a master's degree in meteorology from Leipzig University and a doctorate from Humboldt University in Berlin.

His past employments include Hydrometeorologist in the East German Army Command; Aeronautical forecaster of a Navy helicopter squadron in the East German Army; and Representative to the Commission of Marine Meteorology of the International Meteorological Organization.

Dr. Schmager and wife, Ruth, have chosen Diamondhead as their American home. Sons Andreas and Jan remain in Germany. Since arriving, the Schmagers have visited Florida, Texas and California.

Taylor announces winners

Perry Central High School student Roudie Jones painted "Sunday Afternoon in Hintonville," and took top honors as "Best of Show," in the 5th Congressional District Art Competition, "An Artistic Discovery," announced South Mississippi Congressman Gene Taylor. Jones was one of nearly 200 outstanding young artists from all over South Mississippi who participated in the contest April 12.

With the help of officials at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, Jeff Davis Campus, Taylor sponsored the event, held at the school's Fine Arts Building. Jones' work will hang in the heavily traveled Cannon corridor of the U.S. Capitol for a year. The underground passageway links U.S. House office buildings with the Capitol building. Jones will also receive a scholarship from Taylor.

"We were able to make this opportunity available for our students because of the efforts of the high school art teachers and the folks at MGCCC who helped us pull everything together, and the judges who had the toughest job of all," said Taylor.

Get Heart Smart

Cardiac Assessment: $10 Special Cash Price

According to the American

Heart Association,

almost 500,000

Americans die of heart disease each year. Some risks factors are uncontrollable,

such as age or a family history of heart disease. However, other contributing factors can be controlled...and it's important to find out just what they are.

NorthShore Regional Medical Center is presenting a Heart Health Risk Information seminar, scheduled for Monday, May 26 from 8 to 9:30 a.m. in the main dining room, 100 Medical Center Drive. Dr. George

Thomas, an expert on cardiology, is the featured speaker. He will share valuable information, followed by a question/answer session.

In conjunction with the seminar, NorthShore Regional Medical Center is offering a cardiac risk assessment, which includes a blood glucose, total cholesterol, LDL,

HDL and triglyceride profiles as well as resting heart rate, blood pressure, height, weight and frame size. The screening will be held at 7 a.m., right before the seminar begins; participants are asked to fast that morning.

Seating is limited, call 646-5014 to reserve your place.

The Board of Supervisors, acting for and on behalf of Hancock County, Mississippi (the "County") and the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission (the "Commission"), took up for consideration the matter of authorizing and approving a loan on behalf of the County from the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development (the "Department") for the purpose of making improvements to the Stennis International Airport Facility and thereby promoting commerce and economic growth.

Thereupon the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, adopted the following resolution:

RESOLUTION DECLARING THE INTENTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, TO AUTHORIZE AND APPROVE A LOAN ON BEHALF OF THE COUNTY AND THE

Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT IN A MAXIMUM PRINCIPAL AMOUNT NOT TO EXCEED

Four Hundred Fifty Thousand DOLLARS ($450,000.00)

FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING IMPROVEMENTS TO THE

Stennis International AIRPORT FACILITY TO PROMOTE COMMERCE AND ECONOMIC GROWTH

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi (the "Governing Body" of the "County"), does hereby find, determine, adjudicate and declare as follows:

1. The Mississippi Business Investment Act, constituting Sections 57-61-1 et seq. Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended (the "Act"), was enacted for the purpose of promoting business and economic development in the State of Mississippi (the "State") through investment by private companies locating in the State.

2. Pursuant to Section 57-61-41 of the Act, the Department is authorized to make interest-bearing loans to state, county or municipal airport authorities for the purpose of making improvements to airport facilities.

3. The County and the Authority will agree to improve the airport facilities and will request the Department to finance a portion of the cost associated with the development of these improvements (the "Project").

4. Pursuant to the Act and guidelines adopted by the Department, the County and the Commission will file an application with the Department for a loan to be used for the development of The Project in the amount of Four Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($450,000.00) (the "Loan").

5. The County and the Commission will enter into a Loan Agreement (the "Agreement") with the Department wherein the County and Authority agree to borrow the proceeds of the Loan subject to and upon the terms and conditions of the Agreement.

6. In order to secure the Loan, the County and the Commission will execute and deliver to the Department a Promissory Note (the "Note"). Failure of the County to meet its repayment obligations shall result in the forfeiture of sales tax allocation and/or homestead exemption reimbursement in an amount sufficient to repay obligations due pursuant to Section 57-61-15 (7) of the Act. Upon forfeiture of the County of its sales tax allocations and/or homestead exemption reimbursement for twelve (12) months, the County may levy an ad valorem tax on the taxable property therein for the purpose of meeting its repayment obligation in accordance with Section 57-61-15(8) of the Act. The revenue produced from the tax levy shall not be included within the ten percent (10%) growth limitation on ad valorem tax receipts for its general budget.

7. The Loan shall not be deemed indebtedness within the meaning specified in Section 19-9-5, Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE GOVERNING BODY OF THE COUNTY, AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. The Governing Body of the County, does hereby declare its intention to authorize and approve a Loan from the Department in the principal amount not to exceed Four Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($450,000.00) for the purpose of making improvements to the Stennis International Airport Facility thereby promoting commerce and economic growth.

Section 2. The Loan will be secured by a Note executed and delivered by the County and the Authority to the Department. Pursuant to Section 57-61-15 (7) of the Act, failure of the County to meet its repayment obligations shall result in the forfeiture of sales tax allocation and/or homestead exemption reimbursement in an amount sufficient to repay obligations due until such time as the indebtedness has been discharged or arrangements to discharge such indebtedness satisfactory to the Department have been made. Upon forfeiture of the County of its sales tax allocations and/or homestead exemption reimbursement for twelve (12) months, the County may levy an ad valorem tax on the taxable property therein for the purpose of meeting its repayment obligation in accordance with Section 57-61-15(8) of the Act. The revenue produced from the tax levy shall not be included within the ten percent (10%) growth limitation on ad valorem tax receipts for its general budget.

Section 3. If twenty percent (20%) or fifteen hundred (1,500), whichever is less, of the qualified electors in the County shall file a written protest with the Clerk of the County against the authorization and approval for the Loan on or before the aforesaid date and hour, then the Loan shall not be entered into unless authorized at an election on the question of authorizing and approving the Loan. Such election shall be called and held as provided by law. If no protest is filed, then the Loan may be entered into without an election on the question of authorizing and approving the Loan at any time within a period of two (2) years after the date above specified.

Section 4. This Resolution shall be published once a week for at least four (4) consecutive weeks in the Sea Coast Echo, a newspaper published in the City of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Mississippi and having a general circulation in the County and qualified under the provisions of Section 13 3-31, Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended. ## Dear Patients and Friends:

Headaches are common ailments affecting many individuals every day of their lives. Professional help is seldom sought for headaches, although millions of Americans spend countless dollars on headache remedies, even though usually they get little or no relief from them. And the headache usually keeps occurring.

Chiropractors believe that drugs do not cure and do not prevent headaches. Although they may relieve pain, they certainly do not remove the cause of the pain, and may even bring about undesirable side effects. A headache may be considered as a sign that something is wrong within the body; the pain is a warning signal. But taking something like a painkiller to numb the pain would be like disconnecting the oil light in your car whenever it flashes.

The body is controlled and regulated through the nervous system and, if a spinal nerve is pinched or blocked, the body will become diseased or malfunction. A headache, for example, could be the result of a situation like this. When one or more of the tiny positions, headache troubles may result.

When you are in pain and in doubt as to its cause, contact your Doctor of Chiropractic. Find out what's causing those headaches and, instead of covering up the pain, try for a cure!

The Word for the Week

Dennis J. Proctor, Bay St. Louis, MS 39521

Memorial Day is set each year to remember those who gave their lives in the armed forces. We remember those who died on far away battle fields to bring freedom and democracy to oppressed peoples.

We commemorate their actions by having picnics in communities across the land. We sometimes call it Decoration Day because we decorate the graves of fallen heroes with flags and flowers.

When Israel crossed the Jordan River to enter the promised land for the first time, God commanded Joshua to pile up a heap of stones at the place. "So these stones shall become a memorial to the sons of Israel forever." The stones memorialized God's great grace.

As a great statue of David memorializes the work of Michelangelo, the universe commemorates the genius of the living God. "The heavens are telling of the glory of God; and their expanse is declaring the work of His hands" (Psalm 19:1). We see His might, power, glory and strength in the brightness of the distant stars, the glow of the blessing comet and in the shadow of a lunar eclipse. "For since the creation of the world His invisible attributes, His eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly seen, being understood through what has been made" (Romans 1:20). The universe is God's Memorial. Every day is therefore God's Memorial Day.

'Christmas in April' project

Powered from the Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO), a Hancock County project to establish a memorial to the "Christmas in April" project.

Work to the Waveland residence included installing vinyl floor covering, replacing some for boards, replacing rotted window frames, and painting the outside of the house. The interior work was completed the last two weekends in April, and the painting was completed the second weekend in May.

applied with great appreciation and followed the work was a blessing. The residents that maintained, improved and beautified the house.

"I am truly thankful for this gift. It takes away many of my worries," the resident commented.

"Christmas in April" is a national foundation headquartered in Washington, D.C. Several thousand homes are renovated each year in the volunteer program.

Bay Catholic News

This was a very exciting month for Bay Catholic. Spring time was here with great weather, and Mrs. Barter's and Mrs. Warren's first grade classes took advantage of it.

Both classes did research on how to make kites. Well, they actually made kites out of paper, straws and string and went to the beach and flew them. Some kids had to put on more tape, more string, or face the wind a different way. Some kids' kites flew well. Not all even flew. But it was a good experience for the first graders.

Mrs. William's P.E. class participated in a health activity. They made mobiles and hung them in the school cafeteria. They cut out one picture from each food group and hung them on a coat hanger with yarn.

In addition to health, BCE also provides French. Mr. Westbrook's French and music classes are kind of blended together with classical tapes and bilingual cartoons. We mainly study about famous French people from history, art, literature, music, science, etc. The class emphasizes the spoken language with take-home vocabulary sheets so we could be confident if we travel to France, Quebec or parts of Louisiana.

As you know, we are a Catholic school, and during Easter we participated in "The Stations of the Cross" held by the fifth grade on Holy Thursday. They acted out the sorrow Jesus went through during the last part of his life. It was an inspiration to all attending.

In keeping with the Easter spirit, Mrs. Connie's class took a trip to St. Joseph's Altar. And since Easter is about new life, they also celebrated a classmate's baptism with a picnic/baptism party.

Mrs. Luttrell's fifth grade traveled to Beauvoir, the last home of Confederate President Jefferson Davis. The children made rubbings from the gravestone headings of Confederate veterans. They also saw the grave of the Mystery Soldier of the South.

A great time was also had by the four-year-olds class. They walked through a very interesting tour at the Stennis Space Center. They also listened to tapes about the life of an astronaut. They ended their day with a bag lunch on the grounds of the Space Center.

Mrs. Johnson's and Mrs. Gleber's second grade class really enjoyed their trip to the Audubon Zoo. The weather started out bad but then became beautiful. They were especially excited about getting their first look at the Komodo Dragon.

Mrs. Wallace's sixth grade had their traditional field trip to the Aquarium of the Americas in New Orleans. They enjoyed the IMAX movie, The Deep Sea. They also had a ball searching for answers to the scavenger hunt. Then to end the day they went to the River Walk for a wonderful lunch and shopping.

'Reach to Recovery'

The American Cancer Society will conduct a Reach to Recovery Visitor Training Program. The training will be held Thursday, May 22 at Keesler Air Force Base Medical Center from 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

Invited to participate in the training session are mastectomy and other breast cancer patients who are interested in becoming trained as Reach to Recovery visitors.

Cancer patients who are involved in the program must have successfully adjusted to their disease, its treatment and consequences and be approved by their physicians before being certified as Reach to Recovery visitors.

The training will include background information on the American Cancer Society and its rehabilitation programs; qualifications, expectations and responsibilities of Reach to Recovery visitors. Participants will receive training on how to be effective as a volunteer visitor; visiting do's and don'ts; and listening skills.

Volunteers who have been specially screened and trained visit new breast cancer patients with the approval of the attending physician. The volunteer assists in emotional, physical and psychological rehabilitation.

Personal reassurance on a women-to-women basis is done through hospital visits, home visits, phone contacts, counseling and follow-up.

At the request of the physician, pretreatment contact may be arranged. Volunteers who have had reconstruction surgery are available to provide non-medical information to patients considering this treatment option.

For information on the Reach to Recovery Visitation program, contact the Coast District office at (601) 896-7024 or 1-800-ACS-2345.

Author to benefit animal shelter

Bookends Bookstore in Bay St. Louis will host an autographing party with Dr. Don George to benefit the Waveland Animal Shelter Saturday, May 24 at 1 p.m.

Dr. George, professor emeritus in speech communications at the University of Southern Mississippi has written an engaging book titled A Dog's View of the World and Other Fables in Rhyme (University editions, 7.00).

He uses the rhythmic style of the medieval balladeer and the title poem involves the lectures given by a wise old dog to a group of puppies.

In the remaining stories all the characters are dogs whose behavior leads to a "moral" for humans to think about.

All profits from the sales of the books will be given to the Waveland Animal Shelter for their building fund. Bookends also has forms available for the purchase of cinder blocks for $2 apiece.

The shelter needs 2,420 blocks for the new addition. The public is encouraged to support any and all fund raisers for the new addition as the shelter takes in animals from Hancock County and Bay St. Louis as well as Waveland. Anyone wishing to help the shelter's efforts may call Nancy Gallager at 467-0230.
